

Luminary Search - The Power to Influence

Reducing Appointment Balance Sheet Risk

Luminary Search challenges the way executive search is traditionally undertaken.

Today's market is facing an increasingly turbulent economic climate and companies are more risk averse in their executive selection.

Incorporating half a century of search, consulting and psychological methodology, Luminary Search unearths the capabilities of senior executives and their actual capacity to engage with and respond to today's challenging business environments.

Through measuring the true effectiveness of individuals in varying business scenarios, we are able to index talent and competencies against the needs of the business, significantly reducing 'inappropriate appointment' balance sheet risk.

Connecting Experience & Competencies to Business Strategy

We ask the tough questions to challenge the calibre, skills, attributes and experience of candidates under consideration against both the strategic long-term needs of the business and the specific requirements and competencies of the position.

The strategic consulting and advice Luminary Search provides to organisations we partner, has ensured the skills, experience and personal attributes required for success are accurately identified, sourced and appointed.

Luminary Search specialises in delivering business-critical managerial, executive and boardroom searches across a broad range of industry domains without geographical boundary. We are the global executive search partner of choice.

A team with the 'Power to Influence'

Luminary Search's experienced team of partners and associates are recognised as some of the most influential business leaders and executive search consultants in their fields.

Experts in their chosen domains, our consultants have the unique ability to identify, engage and influence the industry's most sought after executives.

We invite you to contact one of our partners to discuss appointments or your next career move.
